

OSCON™

Open Source Convention

Now in its ninth year, the O'Reilly Open Source Convention is the bazaar of open source technologies, welcoming new voices and projects alongside the platforms, languages, and apps that started the open source movement. OSCON brings together the experts, visionaries, programmers, sys admins, CIOs, CTOs, and hackers in the trenches to explore open source's best through hundreds of sessions, tutorials, activities, and events.

OSCON is the place for the open source community to gather and gain momentum. It's also become a place for enterprise developers and managers to see the jewels of open source on display.
