The Where 2.0 Conference brings together the people, companies, and projects building the new technological foundations and creating value in the location industry. There’s no better place to connect with the people behind the mash-ups and platforms, looking ahead to the future of geospace, debating what’s viable now, and what’s lurking just below the radar.

Where 2.0 is a two-day, single-track conference featuring a unique combination of high profile keynotes from big players, lightning talks, panel discussions, and demos with the most innovative and interesting people in this space. Now in its third year, Where 2.0 is where the grassroots and leading edge developers building location aware technology intersect with the businesses and entrepreneurs seeking out location apps, platforms, and hardware to gain a competitive edge.
